

What with our helpe, what with the absent King,
 What with the iniuries of wanton time,
 The seeming sufferances that you had borne,
 And the contrarious windes that helde the King
 So long in the vnluckie Irish Warres,
 That all in England did repute him dead;
 And from his swarme of faire aduantages,
 You tooke occasion to be quickly wooed,
 To gripe the generall sway into your hand,
 Forgot your oath to vs at Doncaster;
 And being fed by vs, you vs' de vs so,
 As that vngentle gull the Cuckowes bird,
 Vleth the Sparrow, did oppresse our nest,
 Grew by our feeding, to so great a bulke,
 That euen our loue durst not come neare your sight
 For feare of swallowing: but with nimble wing
 We were inforst for safety sake, to flie
 Out of your sight, and raise this present head,
 Whereby we stand opposed by such meanes
 As you your selfe haue forg'd against your selfe,
 By vnkind vsage, dangerous countenance,
 And violation of all faith and troth
 Swore to vs in your younger enterprise.

King. These things indeede, you haue articulate,
 Proclaymed at Market crosses, read in Churches,
 To face the garment of Rebellion,
 With some fine colour that may please the eye
 Of fickle changelings, and poore discontentes,
 Which gape, and rub the Elbow at the newes
 Of hurlyburly innouocation:
 And neuer yet did insurrection want
 Such water colours, to impaint his cause;
 Nor muddy Beggars, stauing for a time,
 Of pel-mell hauocke and confusion.

Prin. In both your Armes, there is many a soule
 Shall pay full dearely for this encounter.
 If once they ioine in tryall, tell your Nephew,
 The Prince of Wales doth ioine with all the world

In praise of Henry Percy: by my hopes
 This present enterprise set of his head,
 I doe not thinke a braver Gentleman,
 More actiue, more valiant, or more valiant yong,
 More daring, or more bould, is now aliue,
 To grace this latter age with noble deeds:
 For my part, I may speake it to my shame,
 I haue a trewant been to Chualrie,
 And so I heare he doth account me too;
 Yet this before my Fathers Maiestie,
 I am content that he shall take the ods
 Of his great name and estimation,
 And will to saue the bloud on either sied,
 Try fortune with him in a single fight.

King. And, Prince of Wales, to dare we venture
 Albeit, considerations infinite
 Doe make against it: No good Worcester, no,
 Weeloue our people well; euen those we loue
 That are misd vpon your Coosens Parr:
 And will they take the offer of our Grace,
 Both hee, and they, and you yea euery man,
 Shall bee my griend againe, and Ile be his.
 So tell your Coosen, and bring me word,
 What he will doe. But if he will not yeelds
 Rebuke and dread correction waite on vs,
 And they shall doe their office. So be gone,
 We will not now bee troubled with reply,
 We offer faire, take it aduisedly. Exit

Prin. It will not be accepted, on my life,
 The Douglas and the Hotspur both together,
 Are confident against the world in armes.

King. Hence therefore, euery Leader to his charge
 For on their answer will we set on them;
 And God befriend vs, as our cause is iust. Exit

Fal. Hal, if thou see me downe in the Battle
 And bestride me so, tis a point of friendship,

Prin. Nothing but a Colossus can doe thee that Say thy prayers, and farewell.
